Sobriety Trained Officers Representing Mississippi

FREE TRAINING and LODGING * Registration deadline is 7 April 2017

STORM Conference • May 2-4, 2017 • Ameristar Casino • Vicksburg, Mississippi

Program:

One of the most popular instructors in law enforcement today, Master Trooper Kirk Hensley from North Carolina State Highway Patrol, will teach Officer Survival-Surviving the First Three Seconds as it pertains to impaired-driving stops, which is designed to take the reactionary gap off of the officer and put it back onto the suspect. This is done through a 5 step program that focuses on these factors in impaired driving:

1. Identifying armed individuals through body language indicators.
2. Identifying armed individuals through clothing indicators.
3. Street level interrogation skills.
4. Street level lie detection skills.
5. Identifying assaultive indicators through body language and verbal indicators.

Recent Review by Duane Wolf: “As a writer, researcher, retired police officer and law enforcement instructor I thought I had a pretty good grasp on officer safety, the ability to spot armed suspects, pre-attack cues and signs of deception. I had the privilege of attending Kirk Hensley’s ‘The First 3 Seconds’, where I got schooled, in a good way. It is not very often when I leave a class wishing that I had the information 10 years ago. The techniques and tactics are scientifically researched and validated both in the lab and on the street. Kirk’s presentation skills kept the audience’s attention with his sense of humor and his vast knowledge on the subjects. I would recommend this class to every officer, regardless of how skilled you think you are, you will leave this class a smarter and safer officer. Every officer needs to know these critical skills and this class stands as the best that I have seen of its’ kind in my almost 30 years of LE education and training.”
